ORANGEMEN FAIL TO BREAK UP O'BRIEN'S MEETING.

Queen's Park Packed With Thousands of Nationalists, Together With a Few of the Other Kind—Mr. O'Brien Interviewed—A Talk With Lord Lansdowne.

TORONTO, May 19.—Yesterday afternoon's reception of O'Brien was calm compared with the proceedings last night, when he made a speech in Queen's park. A crowd of Toronto Orangemen attempted to storm the platform, and, failing in that, to choke off all possibility of Mr. O'Brien being heard, by keeping up a continual din of groaning, hissing and cries of "God save the queen" and "Rule Britannia." It was 4 o'clock when the crowd had about fully collected, and it then seemed a fair estimate to set the number present at 15,000, although people kept pouring in in such floods from all quarters after the meeting had begun that there were times when 20,000 persons would not be an overstatement.

Mr. O'Brien entered the park with 150 policemen in charge. In all the disturbers did not number more than sixty persons, and many of them were armed with sticks. Two sycamore trees in front of the platform were taken possession of by a crowd of young roughs, who hissed out into the speakers' faces during the greater part of the time, until a few powerful men among the Nationalists caught hold of the trunks of the trees and shook the disturbers to the ground. This seemed to anger the Orangemen, who knocked down one or two of the Nationalists with blows of their clubs. The Nationalists in return used their fists very effectively. Police Inspector Archibald and Deputy Chief Stuart, who were in company with Col. Grossett, smiled in a most good natured way, and used no effort at all to drive off the rowdies, who pressed with might and main to reach the front of the platform, but in vain. With the exception of a couple of charges by single policemen on horseback, no attempt was made to interfere with the rioters.

Lord Lansdowne's Tenants.

BUFFALO, May 19.—Learning that several ex-tenants of Lord Lansdowne were residents of this city, a United Press reporter gathered from them this morning what they assert is the true situation among the tenants on his lordship's estates. Daniel D. Harnett comes from Kerry county, "Lansdowne ridden Kerr," as they call it, where the greater part of the Lansdowne estate are located and claim to know something about the way the poor tenants are treated by the "Lansdowne leeches."

The Lansdowne leases are the most outrageous compacta in the whole of Ireland, and the tenants must submit to them in every particular or be subject to eviction. They are enforced with cold-blooded and relentless rigor, and keep the people in a bondage worse than was ever put on slaves. The agent of Lansdowne's keep a constant surveillance over the tenants. Should a family go to mass on Sunday a little cleaner or a little better dressed than usual, up went their rent. It is a crime on the Lansdowne estates in the eyes of their agent for a tenant to live a while better than a brute. No marriages are permitted without the consent of the agent, and he does not always give his consent. The policy of the Lansdowne's is to prevent marriage because it increases the population and tends to cut up the farms into small lots, and they don't want many people on their estates. The leases also forbids tenants harboring poor people. A violation of any of these provisions in the leases means eviction.

Edward Kelly says there were thirty-seven evictions in his neighborhood before he left, and they were accompanied by heartless actions. The evictors took everything, even a pot simmering on the stove with meat. Milk would be thrown on the ground to go to waste rather than the tenants should get it. The rents were excessive, and where other landlords dropped 15 and 30 per cent, Lansdowne would reduce but 5. The policy of Lansdowne has been to exterminate the peasantry and to bring Orangemen from the north to live on the estates.

John Moran's father was evicted just before John left Ireland. He relates some experiences during the great famine year. He saw people starving on every hand, and heartless landlords doing nothing to assist them.

Stephen Fealy says Lansdowne is cursed morning, noon and night by his Listowel estate victims. Herod, he says, was an innocent man in comparison with the tyrant Lansdowne.

Thomas B. O'Brien says the cruelties that prevail on the Lansdowne estates is unequalled elsewhere in Ireland. An old woman aged eighty-six years was evicted and her sick daughter-in-law carried out on the roadside. He says it was a pitiable sight to see the aged woman step to her daughter's side and say: "Mavourneen, don't fret. Cheer up. God will provide for us," while the sheriff interrupted with a brutal "Hurry up and get out of here."

The Lansdowne estates in Kerry alone, these tenants say, amount to nearly 150,000 acres.

O'Brien Satisfied.

TORONTO, Ont., May 19.—"What do I think of yesterday afternoon's meeting?" said Mr. O'Brien to the United Press reporters query, "Why I could not have wished that it would have been more successful than it has proven. Of course you know I am accustomed to talk to noisy crowds in Ireland and I was prepared for an adverse demonstration in Toronto. I must confess, however, that individuals composing the crowd were far more boisterous and unmannerly than any other crowd I ever attempted to address. They were cited to their course, however, by ministers of religion, who should have known better, and I pardon them freely for their conduct of which I have no doubt, in their sober moments, they will be ashamed. They forgot the fact that I was not talking to the mob which confronted me, but to the world, to every part of which your association, together with other special correspondents, have by this time spread my words."

Mr. O'Brien could not definitely say what his movement would be beyond Friday. He expects to leave here at 8 o'clock for Ottawa, arriving in that city at 7:25 in the morning. He will address a meeting there and one at Kingston on Friday night. He has been urged to speak at Hamilton on Monday, and it is just possible he may accept and return to New York by way of Buffalo.

Interview With Lansdowne.

CHICAGO, May 19.—The News this morning prints the following interview with the Marquis of Lansdowne. Speaking of the controversy between himself and Mr. O'Brien, he said: "Mr. O'Brien is laboring under deceptive information. I have always been disposed to use my tenants with moderation and justice. I have investigated every case where an injustice was complained of, and I should have continued to do so had not the Land league interfered in my affairs. The statement that has been made that I borrowed money from the British government under the land improvement act of 1881, and loaned it to my tenants at increased interest is wholly untrue. The charges that have been brought against my grandfather, in 1847, of cruel injustice and oppression, are also false. His estates were depleted and his revenues seriously affected; yet, notwithstanding the causes which led to that unhappy year, he paid the costs of the families who desired to emigrate to America out of his own pocket, while those who remained were sustained nearly or almost wholly at his personal expense. I must decline to discuss O'Brien in any way so far as the purpose of his coming to Canada is concerned."

From Dublin's Council.

TORONTO, May 19.—Mayor Howland received a circular from John Barbridge, town clerk of Dublin, stating that the council of that place had passed resolutions, which were forwarded. The first clause stated the general condemnation of the barbarous character of the clearances on the Laggacurrag estate, and the second calls upon all Canadians to vindicate the cause of the oppressed tenants by giving an enthusiastic welcome to the tenants' advocate, Mr. O'Brien. The circular arrived too late to be made public yesterday. The mayor has directed the clerk to answer the resolutions.

EX-GOVERNOR SMITH DEAD.

Death of the Man Who Was Twice Governor of Virginia.

RICHMOND, Va., May 19.—Ex-Governor William Smith died at his residence in Paupier county, Virginia, at 9 o'clock this morning. Mr. Smith was born in 1797 in King George County, Virginia. He was a figure in the history of his state and of the nation. In his early days he was a mail contractor and because of his repeated demands for extra compensation he grew to be known as "Extra Billy" Smith. He was first elected governor two score of years ago and when the war was brought to a close he was again chosen governor, having been elected this time because of his fighting qualities as colonel of the Forty-ninth Virginia infantry.

Before the war Mr. Smith frequently represented his district in congress, and he was on the floor of the house when Lincoln was inaugurated. He started everybody at that time by calling for eggnog, which he drank on the floor of the house. While governor he was twice the nominee of the Democrats for United States senator, and was beaten first by R. M. T. Hunter and afterward by James M. Mason, by a coalition of the solid White minority and the Calhoun Democrats. He canvassed Pennsylvania for Buchanan in 1856, at Mr. Buchanan's urgent request, and made many converts for the Democrats by his ingenious pleas. As a politician he was distinguished more by dexterity than by boldness. As a soldier during the war—he was the emblem of valor, rather than of tactical skill. "Fall in, Forty-ninth Virginia," will come back to many a Virginian soldier as he recalls the rallying cry to his regiment of the Forty-ninth Virginia infantry.

TRAIN WRECKERS SHOT.

How the Unfriendly Spirit Toward Railways Is Being Crushed Out in Mexico.

MORELIA, Mex., May 19.—Mexican authorities are showing great zeal in crushing out the unfriendly spirit toward railways in this country. Lately a Mexican was killed near this place by a railway train, and no arrests being made, friends of his retaliated by wrecking the train. Gendarmes were sent out with instructions to bring in all suspected of any complicity in the work. Thirty-three Mexicans were arrested. The crime was fastened on three men and under a recent law they were sentenced to death.

They were shot yesterday morning at sunrise. The execution was public, and will properly serve as a warning to train-wreckers.

The Jefe Politico told the conductors: "Whenever you discover anything on the track, pick up whoever is around and bring them to me. It doesn't make any difference whether you saw them commit any crime or not; it will be investigated."

Railroads Invading Nebraska Territory.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 19.—The Missouri Pacific railway has developed its plans for the invasion of Nebraska territory in the last few days, and the contracts have been closed for construction. Two lines will be constructed in Nebraska—one from Warwick, Kan., to Hastings, Neb., and the other line from Talmage, Otoe county, to Crete. From Crete the line will continue westward through the counties of Saline, Fillmore and Clay to a connection with the Warwick line to Hastings. This line from Talmage westward strikes through one of the richest and most populous sections of the state, over which the Burlington system has had practical sway for some time.

Definitely Settled.

NEW YORK, May 19.—An Augusta, Me., dispatch to the World says that Mr. Blaine has finally announced his decision to go to Europe this summer, leaving early next month. The reason assigned by Mr. Blaine for his trip across the water is poor health and much needed rest. That Joseph Manley will accompany Mr. Blaine is pretty well settled, and it is said that many lesser political lights will sail later.

THE COLFAX MONUMENT.

AN IMPORTANT EVENT IN THE HISTORY OF ODD FELLOWSHIP.

A Tribute to the Memory of the Founder of the Degree of the Daughters of Rebekah Unveiled at Indianapolis, Indiana, With Imposing Ceremonies.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 19.—The monument erected by the Odd Fellows of the United States to the memory of the late Vice President Schuyler Colfax, in commemoration of his services in establishing the degree of the Daughters of Rebekah, was formally unveiled this afternoon with imposing ceremonies.

The weather was perfect, and the city was filled with strangers. The proceedings were under the auspices of the grand encampment of the order now in session in this city, and the town is in gala attire in honor of the event.

During the morning a large number of lodges, cordon's encampment and Rebekah degree lodges from various parts of the state arrived at the Union depot and were received by delegations of the city lodges and escorted to Tomlinson hall, where they were heartily welcomed. The grand encampment met at 9 o'clock, and after a brief session adjourned to participate in the special event of the day.

At noon the procession commenced to form at the corner of Delaware and Market streets, under the direction of Grand Marshal Theodore Pfaffen, commanding the department of Indiana, Patriarch Militant.

The line of march was east on Market to New Jersey, south to Washington, west to Tennessee, north to North street, east to Meridian, thence south to Vermont to Pennsylvania streets and around University square to the southwest corner of the park, where a vast crowd had assembled.

The proceedings were opened with music, followed by prayer by Grand Chaplain Brewster. Amid prolonged applause and waving of hats and handkerchiefs, the monument was then unveiled by Miss Belle Treater, president of the Convention of the Daughters of Rebekah.

The monument was then formally presented to the Grand Lodge by John A. Ferguson, of the local committee, and Grand Master Grant delivered an address of acceptance.

THE people of Henderson were so highly incensed at Governor Knott for respiteing a murderer that they hung his Excellency in effigy the other night. The Governor should put a stop to this thing of granting a pardon, remitting a fine or granting a respite nearly every time he is asked.

THE Washington (D. C.) correspondent of the Louisville Courier Journal says: "The death of Judge Phister causes deep regret here among Kentuckians, and many public officials who knew him well and favorably. In Congress Judge Phister was able, upright and courteous, and had the respect and esteem of both sides of the House."

A COLORED delegate to the late Republican State convention says that "Kentucky Republicans have plenty of taffy for the Germans and Irish, but not even a cold potato for the negro." This remark was made by Rev. Eugene Evans, of Frankfort, who was defeated for Register of the Land Office. The white brother wants all the pie for himself.

THE leaders of the Union Labor party of Kentucky seem very anxious to find out just what strength they have in the State. They are dead bent on having a full State ticket in the field next August, and will likely hold a convention in La Grange about the 17th of June. They are being urged on by the Republicans who hope to defeat the Democrats in this way.

JUDGE WILLIAM LINDSAY, of Frankfort, is suggested as excellent material to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Woods, of the Supreme Court. The Louisville Times remarks that if Cleveland would look to Kentucky and select Judge Lindsay as Justice Woods' successor, "he would have on the bench as great a lawyer as the country affords, and remove from the Kentucky stage the poorest politician within her limits."

School Closing at Sardis.

The closing exercises of Professor W. R. Chandler's school at Sardis in Christian Church, Wednesday night, May the 11th, was one of the most interesting and instructive programmes ever enjoyed here. Rev. Widger introduced to the audience Edward Sampson, of Blue Licks, President of the evening. He, after a short address, introduced his school mates, whose essays met the applause of all. "Female Suffrage" was ably discussed by both ladies and gentlemen of the society, judges Robert Marshall and George Dye disagreeing, President gave affirmative the victory.

Miss Anna Grigsby read the paper, which was rich. Every address added cheers of honor to both pupil and teacher.

Sardis expressed her wishes for future success to attend the pupils of Professor C., who have or will return to their respective homes: Messrs. C. P. Wiggins, Charles Collins, Thomas Chandler, John Sims, Edward Sampson; Misses Lulu Hildreth, Gertrude Chandler, Annie and Minnie Kabler. These have won the respect of every citizen while in our midst and will be missed. Professor Chandler's school is one remarkable in the history of Sardis, one in which unusual interest was ever manifested. His patrons congratulate him in his successive efforts, express their appreciation and satisfaction through an eagerness of securing his services in the future.

OFFICIAL FEMININE BEAUTY.

How the Gushing Washington Correspondents Overpaint Their Pictures!

It is not always safe to accept the descriptions of the society correspondents at Washington literally. The standards of judgment there are not precisely the same as elsewhere, and loveliness is considered as going as a matter of course with certain positions. For instance, a congressman may be ugly or good looking, able or weak, honest or knavish; but a congressman's wife is ex-officio lovely; and though various congressmen with all sorts of wives, old and young, brown and blonde, tall and short, sweet and shrewish, come and go, the ideal wife of the congressman remains the same, and in the eyes of the correspondents she is always lovely.

In this way, too, the senator's wife is ex-officio exquisitely lovely. The wives of the supreme court judges, the foreign representatives and the cabinet ministers, are ex-officio entrancingly lovely. As for the president's wife she is ex-officio "beyond all whooping," to use a Shakespearian phrase. Language is inadequate to express her loveliness. It is the failure of the average citizen to appreciate this treatment of beauty as an official attribute that leads to the disappointment of many visitors at Washington. They go expecting to see visions of feminine loveliness floating about the streets of the national capital. In their fancy, it is peopled with beauty like Armida's garden or the enchanted island of Camoens, or the paradise of Maomet. They have heard of at least fifty women who walk with the grace of Diane of Poitiers, 100 who have inherited the witching smile of Ninon de l'Enclos, 150 who have found the lost arms of the Venus of Milo, 200 with the persuasive charms of Phryne—and so on through the long catalogue of professional beauties of history, art and poetry.

But the imaginative tourist finds little in the reality to justify his anticipations. The gay and festive ladies of the society correspondent generally appear to his unskilled eye as sensible, middle-aged, or elderly women. The litho, the graceful, the sinuous, the svelte, the luminous eyed, the full bosomed dames that are metamorphosed into very ordinary people connected by marriage with the men that, for the time being, are running the government.—Rochester Post Express.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 19.—Harry Boggs, alias James Cain, alias James McGinnis, was tried in the circuit court here yesterday for the theft of $500 worth of diamonds from S. Ledman & Son. Boggs is a celebrated criminal, and was arrested shortly after his assault upon the Rev. Steve Holcombe, of this city.

HAMMOND, Ind., May 19.—William Bradburn and the St. Louis kid last night fought twenty-one rounds, requiring an hour and twenty minutes. The fight was with skin gloves. In the twenty-first round Bradburn was declared the winner on a foul by the Kid. It was an even bloody fight all the way through, resulting in both men being badly punished. The fight was under the management of Jack Burke, and was witnessed by 100 Chicago sporting men, who paid $10 each to see the sport. The mill opened at 10:10 and was finished at about 11:30.

London's Migratory People.

It is well known that the population of London is a migratory one, but probably few persons were prepared for the fact which has been brought to light by the compilers of that really wonderful work, "Kelly's Post Office Directory," that the removals in London amount to one in ten annually. Thus the entire population of London changes houses every ten years.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

WASHINGTON DISPATCHES

WHO WILL FILL THE VACANCY ON THE SUPREME BENCH?

A Prediction That Judge Hoadly Will Be Appointed as Successor to the Late Justice Woods—Jared Lawrence Rathbone Appointed Counsel General to Paris.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—A good deal of gossip is heard about the probable successor to Justice Woods, who died last week. The indications are that his successor will be Judge Hoadly, of Ohio, who took up his residence in New York a few months ago. Randolph Tucker, Attorney General Garland, ex-Senators Thurman and McDonald are talked of, but it seems more likely that Mr. Hoadly will get the place.

Attorney General Garland is said to have expressed a desire for vindication from the imputations cast upon his character of late, and is inclined to seek it at the expiration of his term by a re-election to the Senate. Ex-Senator Sherman is past the retiring age of seventy, ex-Senator McDonald within two years of it and Randolph Tucker is within six years of it. Hoadly is younger and has more of a reputation as a lawyer. None of the present judges when appointed were past sixty-three, and only one of them, Justice Blatchford, had reached the age of sixty. Justice Woods, when appointed in 1880, was fifty-six years of age. Three justices have been appointed since he was selected for the place—Matthews, Gray and Blatchford. Justice Woods' term on the supreme bench has been a short one. Only a dozen out of the forty-three who have been appointed to the place have served so short a term. He would have had three more years to serve before he could have retired on full pay, "having reached the age of seventy and served ten years continuously on the supreme bench."

The average term of the justices of the supreme court has been about eighteen years. Only two have cut off their term of service at the end of ten years, while many have held on a full quarter of a century. Justice Miller, now on the bench, was appointed in 1862, and has therefore served twenty-five years. He is past the retiring age. Justice Field was appointed in 1863 and is past the retiring age. Justice Bradley has been in a position to retire at any time in the last four years, having been born in 1813 and appointed in 1870. The longest term served on the bench by any justice was by Chief Justice Marshal and Justice Story, who each served thirty-four years. Justices McLean and Wayne served thirty-two years each, and Bushrod Washington thirty-one. Nine justices have resigned from the supreme bench, one was retired by special act of congress and four have retired on full pay since the act of 1889 permitting this course.

Consul General to Paris.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The president has appointed Jared Lawrence Rathbone to be consul general of the United States to Paris, vice Consul General Walker, resigned. Mr. Rathbone is a wealthy and influential resident of California, and was recommended by Senator Hearst and a large number of leading Democrats of the Pacific coast. Born in Albany N. Y., Mr. Rathbone was educated and graduated at West Point and served in the Union army with distinction, attaining the rank of major during the war, and becoming a member of Gen. Scofield's staff. For some time after the war Maj. Rathbone and his brother and other relatives were residents of Washington city, his brother, Col. Rathbone, being in company with President Lincoln at the theatre on the night of the assassination. After resigning his commission in the army Maj. Rathbone has been connected with successful enterprises in St. Louis and on the Pacific coast, and has married and settled in San Francisco, where he is a popular and leading citizen. Mr. Rathbone has never held office, but has been an active worker in the ranks of the Democracy of the far west.

Convicts Attempt to Escape.

SHELBYVILLE, Ky., May 19.—News has just reached this place of a break for liberty made by convicts on the Louisville Southern railroad, about twelve miles east of here. Yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, while nine convicts were on their way to work, at a given signal made a rush for liberty. The guards shot one white man, whose body is completely riddled with buckshot. A negro was also shot in the hip and seriously injured. One of the trustees captured another of the prisoners three miles from camp and received a reward of $150. John Sayles, a negro who escaped, is also badly wounded and was tracked some distance by the blood on the ground. He is a desperate character and will likely give trouble before captured.

The assassin surrendered, and from his own confession it seems he has been guilty of several similar crimes.
